It is with great enthusiasm and pride that MUNSOC from DSU, in collaboration with ORG Foundation, hosts the successor conference—DSUMUN Edition II: Beyond Borders. Our event aims to uphold the cornerstone principles of the United Nations in international relations and world peace, inspiring both national and international delegations.

Model United Nations (MUN) conferences are academic simulations of the UN that attract students and young minds to engage, negotiate, and participate in formal debates on pressing global issues. This platform gives you the opportunity to take a stand and present your solutions to some of the world's most critical challenges.

Staying true to contemporary relevance, our event seeks to bring together excitement and diplomacy through six distinct committees—the UNSC, DISEC, UNHRC, AIPPM, G20, and IPC—each with its own unique procedures and perspectives on compelling global agendas.

We hope our efforts will provide you with another engaging and dynamic conference experience. With much more in store, we look forward to your participation as you reach beyond borders.

GLOBAL VISION LOCAL ACTION

Warm greetings from DSU MUNSOC!

It is my honour and privilege to extend an invitation to all of you to the second edition of the Dayananda Sagar University Model United Nations, DSUMUN II, scheduled to take place from 19th to 21st April, 2025.

Today, we live in a dangerous world, fraught with hate and violence, affecting both democratic and autocratic institutions alike. A forum for free speech is unheard of for many, making it sacrosanct for people to share their voices with those who cannot.

The theme Beyond Borders must push delegates to new frontiers, as they bear responsibility not only for their countries but for humanity as a whole. Their decision-making must be driven by consensus at open negotiating tables, where the international community truly thrives.

DSUMUN promises to build on its success from the previous year, offering six vibrant committees, including a unique G20 simulation. We, along with the Executive Board, are committed to providing the best conference experience and are here to assist you every step of the way.

We look forward to hosting you at our conference.

Yours sincerely,
Shashwat Saini

Group of 20 Double Delegate Committee

The Group of Twenty (G20) is more than just an economic forum—it was established to promote international financial stability and cooperation among major economies. It is a driving force behind global policymaking, tackling urgent challenges such as climate change, sustainable development, and digital transformation.

At its core, the G20 fosters multilateral cooperation, bringing together delegations from developed and emerging economies to craft policies that drive economic growth and stability. As the world faces economic uncertainties and shifting global power dynamics, the G20 serves as a crucial stage for diplomacy, negotiations, and groundbreaking agreements.

In this high-stakes arena, a delegate's decisions carry consequences that reverberate across continents. Step into this brand-new style of committee with numerous mini-agendas and press conferences, and take charge of shaping the world's financial and political future—because today's diplomacy defines tomorrow's reality.

The Situation in Cyprus

The United Nations Security Council (UNSC) carries the weight of the world on its shoulders. Tasked with maintaining international peace and security, the UNSC is the most powerful arm of the United Nations, with the authority to impose sanctions, deploy peacekeeping missions, and authorize military interventions. With five permanent members wielding veto power and ten elected members representing global perspectives, this council is where diplomacy meets hard power.

In a world threatened by conflicts, nuclear proliferation, and transnational terrorism, the UNSC serves as the first and last line of defense against global chaos. From addressing long-standing disputes like the situation in Cyprus- where territorial tensions have fueled cycles of violence- to mitigating emerging security threats, the council's decisions shape the future of international stability. This is where leaders are tested, strategies are forged, and history is written.

DISEC

Nuclear Proliferation with special emphasis on the Middle East

The Disarmament and International Security Committee (DISEC) addresses global security issues, focusing on disarmament, conflict prevention, and peace-building. It aims to maintain international peace by promoting diplomatic solutions to security challenges worldwide.

In this session, delegates will discuss the establishment of a nuclear-free zone in the Middle East, a key topic for regional and global security. With the Middle East's complex political landscape and ongoing concerns over nuclear proliferation, this issue presents significant challenges.

Delegates will explore the role of international treaties, such as the Non-Proliferation Treaty NPT, and how to balance national sovereignty with international security. The goal is to develop practical solutions that address these concerns, aiming to create a resolution that promotes peace, security, and cooperation in the Middle East.

UNHRC

Human Rights Violations during the Myanmar Crisis

The United Nations Human Rights Council (UNHRC) stands as the world's foremost guardian of human rights, ensuring that justice, equality, and dignity remain at the heart of global governance.

In a world where oppression, discrimination, and conflict continue to challenge human rights, UNHRC delegates serve as a beacon of hope for millions. From tackling humanitarian crises like the Myanmar crisis—where military crackdowns have led to mass displacement and rights violations—to addressing digital privacy concerns and gender rights, its mandate extends far beyond traditional borders.

But the battle for human rights is never simple. Political interests, power struggles, and diplomatic deadlocks often cloud the council's mission. The UNHRC is not just a committee—it is a battlefield of ideologies, where every voice can tip the scales of justice.

AIPPM

Assessing Policy Reforms for Gender Justice in Marriage

The All-India Political Parties Meet (AIPPM) simulates the workings of the Indian Parliament, offering delegates the opportunity to understand and engage with India's legislative process.

In this session, participants will take on the role of parliamentarians, debating and discussing key policy issues that shape the nation. A crucial topic for discussion is policy reforms for gender justice in marriage, shaping legal rights, financial security, and social equity. Ensuring fairness in these laws is key to a just society.

Delegates must assess the effectiveness of marriage laws in ensuring gender justice. Discussions will explore legal gaps, financial implications, and policy reforms to promote fairness. By the end, delegates will aim to propose measures that uphold equality and protect individual rights.

International Press Corps

The International Press Corps (IPC) is a unique committee designed to represent a group of international news journalists covering major developments within DSUMUN committees.

Through press conferences, interviews with delegates, news articles, editorials, and social media content, IPC delegates will be responsible for reporting the conference's real-world activities with clarity and objectivity, holding delegates accountable through incisive questioning.

This role requires deep familiarity with journalism, strong interpersonal communication skills, and the ability to balance following debates in multiple committees while writing frequent articles. Through their work, IPC delegates simulate the complex dynamics of global media and its profound impact on international affairs, allowing them to experience the critical role of the press in shaping public opinion and disseminating information.
